IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR TRIP:

AIRLINE CODE SHARE:

A codeshare flight is a flight that is operated by one airline but sold by another under their name and flight number. Code-share flights are identified on your itinerary with the airline and flight number as booked and the name of the airline operating the flights.

NOTE: when traveling on a code share flight, the gate where you check in may not identify your flight number and may identify other airlines and flight numbers.

BAGGAGE FEES:

Airline baggage fees vary by airline and may include discounts for military personnel traveling in uniform, frequent flyer status,
first class travel, and other memberships and specials.

Airline baggage policies and fees for checked baggage may be found at www.tvlon.com/resources/.

Please note that airline fees and policies may change at any time without prior notice.

CHANGE OF GAUGE FLIGHTS:

On some routes, you must change aircraft en route even though your reservation may show only one flight number. Your itinerary will identify change-of-gauge flights by providing the city and times where the change of equipment will take place.

AIRLINE CHECK-IN:

You may check-in 24 hours prior to your flight time by visiting your airline's website. For your convenience, check to see if your airline offers mobile boarding passes for use on your mobile device.

AIRPORT SECURITY:

The TSA requires that the name on your valid, government-issued photo
ID exactly match the name on your reservation. Check permitted/prohibited items and security
